Destructive Fire at Chicago Which Might CHICAGO, April 13.-Chicago last evening suffered one of the most deas received so much attention recently structive conflagrations that has occurred here since the big fire of 1871.

The loss was fully $1,000,000. It was at almost the exact geograph ical center of the city that the flames started, and, like the disaster twenty years ago, it began in a stable, which was in the rear of John M. Smythe's house furnishing establishment on West Madison street, near Halstead street. ANOTHER sensation has been caused at St. Petersburg by the suicide of a the Smythe furniture establishment, and hussar officer, who, it is rumored, was a moment later to Kohl & Middleton's dime museum. When in a marvelously short interval both structures had turned into a mass of flame, great fiery tongues darted across the street and lodged in the upper stories of the buildings on the north side of Madison street. A moment later the firemen along the thoroughfare found themselves working between two towering walls of fire.

All this time the firemen stood in the street between the flames and after a fierce battle at length brought the fire in a measure under control. The immense blaze, however, continued to rage with intense fury in the buildings already partly destroyed. The museum was nothing but a heap of ruins and the walls of the Smythe building were falling one after another. Fortunately any ill usage. He says the Manipuris they fell into the rulns and no person was injured. The first intimation the inmates of left the bulk of his fortune at the abso-lute disposal of the Baring company, Kohl & Middleton's museum had of the close proximity of the fire was when some one opened a window on the third floor through which a volume of smoke poured filling the entire floor. A wild dull, at Milwaukee and Kansas City poured, filling the entire floor. A want panic followed among the 400 people in the building, most of whom, however, the first floor watching a variance the first floor watching a variant the part in this next war, and should ended a deavor to annihilate the enemy by a grand coup, its duties in this respect refloor were apprised of their danger by the stampede of the upper floors, and as they arose to their feet and fled precipitately toward the front door the fire disturbed, though at all eastern market bere is quite undisturbed, though at all eastern market bere is quite undisturbed, though at all eastern market bere is quite undisturbed.

TRADE REVIEW

Business of the Country Not Altogethe sfactory, According to Du NEW YORK, April 12.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: It cannot be said that the business of the country is expanding when there is a cerease of nearly one-sixth within a single month in the output of pig iron. In nearly all quarters the admitted slackening of trade is attributed to many temporary causes, but the state of the iron trade cannot be thus ex plained and while it may at any time change for the better, it is at present an unfavorable symptom. At Detroit char-coal iron is offered at $18, the lowest price ever known. It is a hopeful feate, on the other hand, that stocks unold have decreased during the month more than one-quarter, both on anthracite and coke iron at furnace reporting. But the trade is very dull and some Southern furnaces weakening as to price and the market for manufactured erms of iron and steel show an improvement. It is said that the order for rails placed this year do not reach

Reports from the various centers of trade are about the same as last week but recognize temporary slackening even more generally, while it is attrib-uted mainly to bad weather and the state of country roads. Pittsburgh reports lower prices for iron products but glass sustained with improving trade. At Cleveland general trade is fairly active, and lumber especially, and at Cincinnati machinery is very brisk, but other trade only fair. At Chicago wheat, dressed meat and wool

FATHER OF DEMOCRACY.

Celebration of the Birthday of Thomas Jefferson—Notable Democrats Present— Ex-President Cleveland's Address. NEW YORK, April 14.—Thomas O. Bell and John M. Levy, two governors of the democratic club, gave a subscription dinner last night at the clul house, Fiftieth street and Fifth avenue, in commemoration of Thomas Jefferson's birthday. President Arnold, of the five cars has been son's birthday. President Arnold, of the board of aldermen, presided. He was flanked by ex-President Grover the Pullman standard color, with lettering and ornamentation in gold. One tering and ornamentation in gold. One Jersey. Among those present were ex-Mayor Smith Ely, Jr., Mayor Grant, ex-Governor Biddle, of New Jersey, Orando B. Potter, Comptroller Myers, Reginald Fitzgerald, Street Commisioner Bettie, C. T. Driscoll, of Con-necticut, Adolph Sanger, Judge E. H. Rich, Judge Van Wyck, John Calhoun and Commissioner Ridgeway. Ex-President Cleveland was the principal speaker.

Cleveland said: "The maintenance of such a center for the cultivation and ssemination of democratic principles, together with the activity and earnest ness of the members of the club, furnish the most gratifying evidence that those who abide here fully realize the value and importance of unremitting political endeavor and thorough organi zation in behalf of true democracy. It seems to me that the atmosphere which pervades this place is ill suited to selsh and ignoble designs; and I feel at this moment that I am surrounded by influences which invite patriotic partisanship and disininterested devotion to party principles.
"This sensation is most agreeable, for

I am glad to be called a partisan if my partisanship is patriotic. If a partisan correctly defined as 'one who is violently and passionately devoted to a party of interest,' I must plead guilty to the charge of being a democratic partisan, so long as the democratic party remains true to its creed and traditions and so long as conditions exist which to my understanding make adherence to its octrine synonymous with patriotism.
"It is a glorious thing to belong to a party which has a history beginning with the first year of our governme and full of achievements interwoven with all that has made our country great and kept our people free. It is an inspiring thing to know that by virtue of our party membership we are associated with those who resist the attempt of arrogant political power to interfere with the independence and integrity of popular suffrage, who men from unjust, unnecessary bardens, who are intent upon checking extravagance in public expenditures and who test party purposes by usefulness in pro-moting the interest and welfare of the people of the land. These considera-tions furnish to those who live in this country the highest and best incentives to constant and faithful effort in the our government by the people and for the people as any American who ever lived. A claim to such political ances-

"No man believed more implicitly in the political instruction of the people than the great founder of our party and the first triumph of democratic ples under his leadership was distinctly the result of a campaign of education So, too, in the light of our last great victory no man who desires democratic success will deny the supreme imporance of a most thorough and systemat e presentation to our fellow citizens of the reasons which support the avowed and accepted purposes of our party. Those who now sneer at efforts in that direction are our enemies-whether they confront us as confessed opponents within our camp.

"It seems to me that this is peculiarly time when the democratic party should be mindful of its relations to the country, of its responsibilities as the guardian of sacred principles and of its luty to a confiding people. In the rejoicing which success permits let us re-member that the mission of our party is continued warfare. We can not ac complish what we promised to the people if we allow ourselves to be di-verted from the perits which are still in our way. Blindness to danger and neglect of party organization and discipline are invitations to defeat. We cannot win permanent and substantial success by putting aside principle and grasping after temporary expedients. We shall court disaster of relax industry in commending to the intelligence of our ountrymen the creed which we proless, and we tempt humiliating failure and disgrace when we discourage or with us, needlessly, and often from the worst of motives, seek to stir up strife

Hardly Married a Week When Her H WILMINGTON, Del., April 13.-Count ewenhaupt, who recently married Miss Bayard, youngest daughter of ex-Secretary Thomas F. Bayard, died this morning. The marriage took place at oon on April 2, little more than week ago at the Bayard homestead

Delamore place, Wilmington.

Count Lewenhaupt was a member of a noble family of Sweden, but having chosen to make his home in the United States, preferred to be considered as a private individual and, it is said, re-quested his friends to drop his title when addressing him. He was a very popular man in society circles and his rriage with Miss Bayard was considered an extremely happy one.

CROP REPORT.

WASHINGTON, April 11.-In its me ly crop report the department of agri-culture says: On portions of the At-lantic and gulf coasts the time of seeding was somewhat prolonged by occa-sional rains, but the delay was not serious and the desired area was planted and proper combinations of sunshine and moisture, which continued until Atazalan, where is the library and cold weather sent the plant into winter quarters with sturdy growth and good color. In portions of Kansas and Nebraska the prolonged drought of last summer extended into the period of seeding, interfering some-what and rendering germination slow, but seasonable weather during the late fall and early winter was sufficient to offset the disadvantage of a late start. The entire season was favorable in California, while in Oregon a dry seed bed received moisture in time to secure good though late growth. The weather was generally mild over the whole area and while the snow fall was compara light it came when most needed, pro-tecting the plant during the coldest weather. The Ohio valley and transmississippi states were especially favored, growth in many sections continuing throughout the winter with sufficient covering when needed and an en-

Each car has a triple brake, and in all the new water remarkable for their uniformity. It is 16 points higher than last year and - above the returns for 1889. A high April condition does not insure a large yield but it indicates a strength and vitality which would enable the plant to withstand more than the ordinary vicisitudes of the season. The nearest approach to the present condition during recent years was in 1884, when the largest crop ever grown was harvested, but a similar high condition in 1886 was followed by a crop of little more than average proportions. The averages of condition in the principal states are: New York, 92; Pennsylvania, 97; Tennessee, 98; Kentucky, 97; Ohio, 98; Michigan, 93; Indiana, 99; Illinois, 97; Missouri, 96; Kausas, 99; California, 99, and Ogden, 97.

He subsequently served as a member of the assembly and as a state senator, and in 1860 was a Rome that if the United States government does not answer Marquis periali's note by to-day Mr. Porter, the American minister here, will be or-dered to leave Italy and the whole dier-general. In 1886, after being re- Italian legation in Washington recalled turned to the New York state senate, and the Italian interests left in charge the last congress he achieved quite a lean comment on the Italian difficulty, reputation as a humorist and an aggres and that there is consequently a revulsion of feeling in favor of aggressive measures. It is said King Hum-bert has received from the editor of an Italian newspaper in America a package of American newspapers containing pictures ridiculing his majesty and ing pictures ridiculing belittling the power and dignity of Italy. One picture in particular, representing the king as a monkey, gave great offense. Italian blood is again boiling and something startling is anticipated within a few days. NOT CREDITED BY MR. BLAINE. WASHINGTON, April 11.-Secretary Blaine was shown the Rome and Lor don cable dispatches by a representa-tive of the United press reporting a re-vulsion of feeling in Italy in favor of aggressive measures toward the United of the Italian government to order Minister Porter to leave Italy and to recall the remnant of the Italian legation now at Washington. The secretary read the dispatches carefully and sin ply remarked: "Not a word relating to all these reports has reached the department. No credit is given to the rumors. They seem to be sensational." this he would have nothing to say about the Italian imbroglio. It is known here that Secretary Blair has prepared an answer to the message of Premier Rudini. The fact of the preparation of Secretary Blaine's reply not only well understood but it is stated moreover that the secretary's letter was submitted to the president and his cabinet and was found to be satisfactory. In view of these circu asserted with considerable confidence that the letter of Secretary Blaine has already been sent to Marquis Rudini, by mail or telegraph is not known. If the former method were adopted the
